The results of this week's election in AD 1 show growing momentum for new ideas in districts throughout the state, and voters' determination to elect more women at all levels of state politics. Research confirms that the presence of women in an elected body leads to the more inclusive, transparent and comprehensive policies that today's challenges demand.

Last year, we saw women rise from 21% to 31% of the Legislature. Fueled by our success and committed to the goal of 50% by 2028, our Recruiters are out building the foundation for representative equality in the California Legislature every single day.

What is equality worth to you?
